SCHOOL-AGED DEPENDANTS

Accompanying students to Australia will be required to enrol at school and pay full fees if they are enrolled in either a Government or non-Government school.

OVERSEAS STUDENT HEALTH COVER (OSHC)

OSHC is compulsory health insurance for students on a student visa. The insurance is valid (and must be paid to include) the period from the first day you arrive in Australia until the end of your student visa. It covers GP and hospital care, some prescription medicines & emergency ambulance.

PERIOD OF COVER

Start date

You might think that the start and end dates are the dates on which you commence and end your studies but this is not the case. For applicants who are in Australia, the start date should begin at least a week before the date of course commencement. For applicants outside of Australia, the student should have OSHC that begins on or before the date of their visa grant. If you are granted your Student 500 visa and you enter into Australia on a date that is before the date your health insurance kicks in, you will be in breach of Condition 8501 which will make you liable for visa cancellation and hurt your visa history.

End date

The end date for OSHC should be until the end of the visa holders intended full period of study. In the situation where the student is taking on a packaged course, the end date for their OSHC should be at the end of their entire packaged or combined course.

SATISFACTORY COURSE PROGRESS

A condition of a student visa is maintaining satisfactory course progress. Students demonstrate they are making satisfactory course progress by their performance in regular tests. All tests, in all courses, are based on material taught in class in that particular week. The EAP with IELTS and HSP courses also include assignments as a part of the student's assessment.

SATISFACTORY ATTENDANCE

A condition of a student visa is having satisfactory course attendance. SCIC will record a student's attendance for all contact hours of each course in which they are enrolled. Each Confirmation of Enrolment a student is issued represents one course. SCIC deems a student's attendance to be unsatisfactory if they do not attend 80% of their total course class hours.

However, an attendance level of at least 70% will be deemed satisfactory if the student is able to maintain satisfactory course progress and there are compassionate and compelling reasons for the lack of attendance which include one or more of:

- i) a serious medical condition (medical certificate required);
- ii) the death of a close family member (a death certificate may be requested);
- iii) a major event (e.g. political or natural disaster) in their home country requiring a return home;
- iv) any other event occasioning trauma, such as (but not limited to) being involved in a motor-vehicle accident, being involved in or witnessing a crime.

COMPLAINTS AND APPEALS

SCIC has a process in place for students to register complaints and to appeal decisions made that can affect their student visa.

If a student is advised that SCIC intends to report them to the Australian Government for misconduct or non-payment of fees, they can access SCIC's internal appeals process to review this decision. If the decision is upheld SCIC will notify the Australian government and a Section 20 breach notice will be sent to the student and/or their legal guardian (mail & email).

If a student is advised that SCIC intends to report them to the Australian Government for unsatisfactory attendance or course progress, they can access SCIC's internal appeals process to review this decision. If the decision is upheld, the student is then able to access an external appeals process by contacting the Overseas Student Ombudsman (OSO). Only after the OSO upholds the decision will SCIC notify the Australian government and a Section 20 breach notice will be sent to the student and/or their legal guardian (mail & email).

NOTE: If a student is under 18 years of age, that student's legal guardian and/or parents will be invited to participate in all discussions with students about course progress/attendance; the deferral, suspension or cancellation of that student's course; or a complaint/appeal by that student.
